ABSTRACT

This report presents summaries of data collected from Division I, II, and III National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) member institutions. Tables are provided to offer meaningful summaries of the graduation-rates and enrollment data that Division I, II, and III institutions have provided to the NCAA and the federal government. The information offers comparisons between students and student athletes and between gender and racial groups. It also includes an overall look at the different sport categories included in the reports. The reports are divided into categories that are groups of similar institutions. The categories are based on NCAA subdivision, size of institution, and whether the institution is public or private. The categories reflect differences in institutional size and missions and place institutions with similar philosophies together. Data included in the tables are sums of all data collected from institutions in a given category. The report provides information about two groups of students: all undergraduates who were enrolled in a full-time program of studies for a degree and student athletes who received athletics aid from the institution upon initial enrollment. Data are provided in seven racial or ethnic groups. Three measures of graduation rates are provided: freshman-cohort rate, transfer-cohort rate, and exhausted-eligibility rate. (SM)

GRADUATION RATES OF DIVISION I STUDENT-ATHLETES WHO ENTERED COLLEGE IN 1992: NOTES AND COMPARISONS WITH THOSE WHO ENTERED FROM 1984 THROUGH 1992

Division I student-athletes who entered college in 1992 mark the seventh consecutive class that met higher initial-eligibility standards. Student-athletes who entered a NCAA institution and received an athletics grant as freshmen in 1992 graduated at a rate of 58 percent.

This class of student-athletes continues the pattern set by previous classes of graduating at a rate one to two percent higher than the general student body. Student-athletes in the two classes prior to the new academic standards graduated at a rate one to two percent lower than the general student body.

The data, as collected from all NCAA Division I member colleges and universities and published in the 1999 NCAA Division I Graduation-Rates Report, are conservative representations of the graduation rate. Only student-athletes who enroll as freshmen, receive athletics related financial aid, and who graduate from that institution within six years of initial enrollment are tracked. Student-athletes who transfer in good academic standing and graduate elsewhere count against their original institution as not graduating and are not counted in the freshman cohort rate for their second institution.

Compilation of graduation rates data changed in 1998. This is the second year of data collection using the government-supplied Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS) graduation rate survey. While this instrument is very similar to the one formerly used by the NCAA, some small changes in definitions and reporting requirements might lead to slight changes in the data.

Overall, graduation rates for the class of freshmen that entered in 1992 were up slightly from 1991 rates. This class equaled the rates of the 1988 through 1990 classes. Division I-A football players show a slight increase in graduation rates for the first time in three years. The graduation rate for Division I-A football players entering in 1992 was 51 percent, a one percent increase from the previous year.

The graduation rates for entering Division I male basketball players remain steady at 41 percent, this after a 4 percent decrease for the class of 1991. Graduation rates for white male basketball players were 53 percent, 6 percent higher than the previous class. However, black male basketball players are graduating at a rate of 33 percent, down from 37 percent for those entering in 1991.

Division I female basketball players show a decline for the third straight year. The rate was 62 percent for those entering in 1992. Division I black female student-athletes overall, as well as black female basketball players, show a decline. The drop for black female basketball players puts the graduation rate at 49 percent, the lowest since the entering class of 1985, which had a rate of 47 percent.

In general, student-athletes entering in 1992 are graduating at rates slightly higher than students of the same racial and gender group.

Despite the drop in graduation rates for entering black female student-athletes, this group continues to show the largest differential in graduation rates between student-athletes and the general student population. They graduated at a rate of 53 percent, 12 percent higher than the black female population, which graduated at a rate of 41 percent.

White female student-athletes entering in 1992 graduated at a rate 10 percent higher than the white female student body, 71 percent and 61 percent, respectively. Black male student-athletes also graduate at a significantly higher rate than their counterparts in the overall student body with a graduation rate of 40 percent compared to the general student-body rate of 31 percent.

Each year the NCAA compiles and publishes graduation rates data for Division I member institutions. The Division I report is distributed to 27,000 high schools for use by guidance counselors, coaches, students and parents. The report is also sent to higher education leaders, members of Congress and the media. 1999 also marks the second year that the NCAA has published official graduation rates for Division II and III institutions.

1. The graduation rate of Division I student-athletes entering college:
   1992—58 percent (general student body—56 percent)
   1991—57 percent (general student body—56 percent)
   1990—58 percent (general student body—56 percent)

Introduction to Aggregate Reports

The following reports are summaries of the data collected from Division I, II and III member institutions and contained in the IPEDS Graduation Rates Survey. These tables have been created to provide meaningful summaries of the graduation-rates and enrollment data that Division I, II and III institutions have provided to the NCAA and the federal government. The information provides comparisons between students and student-athletes, and gender and racial groups. It also provides an overall look at the different sports categories included in the reports.

These reports have been divided into categories that are groups of similar institutions. The categories are based on NCAA subdivision, size of institution and whether the institution is public or private. The categories are meant to reflect differences in institutional sizes and missions, and to place institutions with similar philosophies together.

The data included in these tables are sums of all data collected from institutions in a given category. In all cases, the columns labeled "N" in the following tables relate the total number of students within a reporting cell that were included in the group of institutions in question (e.g., in Division I there were 456 black male basketball players who entered school in 1992).

These data are collected to provide useful information about the graduation rates and enrollment at NCAA Division I, II and III institutions. Institutions can use this information to compare themselves with similar institutions.

1999 NCAA DIVISION I GRADUATION-RATES REPORT

INFORMATION ABOUT THE GRADUATION-RATES REPORT

This information sheet and the attached 1999 NCAA Graduation-Rates Report have been prepared by the NCAA, based on data provided by the institution in compliance with NCAA Bylaw 30.1 and the Federal Student Right-to-Know and Campus Security Act. Each NCAA Division I college or university is required to distribute this sheet and the report to prospective student-athletes and parents, as specified in Bylaw 13.3.1.2.

The graduation-rates report provides information about two groups of students at the college or university identified at the top of the form: (1) all undergraduate students who were enrolled in a full-time program of studies for a degree, and (2) student-athletes who received athletics aid from the college or university upon initial enrollment. [Note: Athletics aid is a grant, scholarship, tuition waiver or other assistance from a college or university that is awarded on the basis of a student's athletics ability.]

The report gives graduation information about students and student-athletes entering in 1992. This is the most recent graduating class for which the required six years of information is available. The report provides information about student-athletes who received athletics aid in one or more of eight sports categories: football, men's basketball, baseball, men's track/cross country, men's other sports and mixed sports, women's basketball, women's track/cross country, and women's other sports. For each of those sports categories, it includes information in six self-reported racial or ethnic groups: American Indian or Alaska Native, Asian or Pacific Islander, Black, Hispanic, Non-Resident Alien, White, and Other (not included in one of the other six groups or not available) and the total (all seven groups combined).

A graduation rate (percent) is based on a comparison of the number (N) of students who entered a college or university and the number of those who graduated within six years. For example, if 100 students entered and 60 graduated within six years, the graduation rate is 60 percent. It is important to note that graduation rates are affected by a number of factors: some students may work part-time and need more than six years to graduate, some may leave school for a year or two to work or travel, some may transfer to another college or university, or some may be dismissed for academic deficiencies.

Three different measures of graduation rates are presented in this report: (1) freshman-cohort rate, (2) transfer-cohort rate and (3) exhausted-eligibility rate. The freshman-cohort rate indicates the percentage of freshmen that entered during a given academic year and graduated within six years. The transfer-cohort graduation rate is calculated only for those student-athletes who transferred to an institution, and indicates the percentage of transfer student-athletes who graduated within six years of the entering class to which they were assigned. The exhausted-eligibility rate indicates the percentage of student-athletes who used all of their athletics eligibility at this college or university and who graduated by August 1998.

1. Graduation-Rates Data. The box at the top of the graduation-rates report provides freshman-cohort graduation rates for all students and for student-athletes who received athletics aid at this college or university.

   a. All students. This section provides the freshman-cohort graduation rates for all full-time, degree-seeking students by race or ethnic group. It shows the rate for men who entered as freshmen in 1992-93, and the four-class average, which includes those who entered as freshmen in 1989-90, 1990-91 and 1991-92. The same rates are provided for women. The total for 1992-93 is the rate for men and women combined, and the four-class average is for all students who entered in 1989-90, 1990-91, 1991-92 and 1992-93.

   b. Student-athletes. This section provides the freshman-cohort graduation rates and also the transfer graduation rates for student-athletes in each race and ethnic group who received athletics aid. Information is provided for men and women separately and for all student-athletes. Transfer rates include student-athletes who, based upon the number of credits accepted by the institution, were placed in the entering classes of 1989-90, 1990-91, 1991-92 or 1992-93.

   c. Student-athletes by Sports Categories. This section provides the identified graduation rates as in 1-b for each of the eight sports categories. (The small letters indicate the value of N.)

   d. Graduation Rates of Those Exhausting Eligibility. This section provides the graduation rates of student-athletes who entered during the 1983-84 through 1992-93 academic years and exhausted their eligibility at the college or university. The rate indicates the percentage that had graduated by August 1998.

2. Undergraduate Enrollment Data. (All students who enrolled in the fall of 1997-98.)

   a. All students. This section indicates the number of full-time undergraduate students enrolled for the 1997 fall term and the number of men and women in each racial or ethnic group.

   b. Student-athletes. This section identifies how many student-athletes were enrolled for the 1997 fall term and the number of men and women in each racial or ethnic group.

   c. Student-athletes by Sports Categories. This section provides the enrollment data as identified in 3-b for each of the eight sports categories.

3. Standards for Transfer Student-Athletes. These are standards an institution uses to determine placement of transfer student-athletes in the appropriate class. For purposes of this report, there are two sets of standards: (1) standards that are the same as NCAA minimums set forth in NCAA Bylaw 14.5, or (2) standards that exceed those specified minimums.

1999 NCAA DIVISION II AND III GRADUATION-RATES REPORT

INFORMATION ABOUT THE GRADUATION-RATES REPORT

This information sheet and the attached Graduation-Rates Report have been prepared by the NCAA, based on data provided by the institution in compliance with NCAA Bylaw 30.1 and the federal Student Right-to-Know and Campus Security Act. Each NCAA Division II and III college or university that offers athletics aid is required to distribute this sheet and the report to prospective student-athletes and prospects' parents as specified in Bylaw 13.3.1.2.

The Graduation-Rates Report provides information about two groups of students at the college or university identified at the top of the form: (1) all undergraduate students who were enrolled full-time in a program of studies for a degree, and (2) student-athletes who either received athletics aid from the college or university upon initial enrollment. [Note: Athletics aid is a grant, scholarship, tuition waiver or other assistance from a college or university that is awarded on the basis of a student's athletics ability.]

The report gives graduation information about students and student-athletes who entered as full-time students for the first time in the fall of 1991 and 1992. The report provides information about student-athletes who received athletics aid in one or more of eight sports categories: football, men's basketball, baseball, men's track/cross country, men's other sports and mixed sports, women's basketball, women's track/cross country, and women's other sports. For each of those sports categories, it includes information on seven self-reported racial or ethnic groups: American Indian or Alaska Native, Asian or Pacific Islander, Black, Hispanic, White, Non-resident Alien and Other (not included in one of the other six groups or not available), and the total (all seven groups combined).

A graduation rate (percent) is based on a comparison of the number (N) of students who entered a college or university as first-time full-time students in a given year and the number of those who graduated within six years. For example, if 100 students entered and 80 graduated within six years, the graduation rate is 80 percent. It is important to note that graduation rates are affected by a number of factors: some students may return as part-time students, some may leave school to work or travel, some may transfer to another college or university, or some may be dismissed for academic deficiencies.

Freshman-Cohort Graduation Rates.

The section at the top of the Graduation-Rates Report provides freshman-cohort graduation rates for all students and for student-athletes who received athletics aid at this college or university.

1. Graduation-Rates Data.

   a. All Students. This section provides the freshman-cohort persistence rates for all full-time, degree-seeking students by race or ethnic group. It shows the rates for men who entered as freshmen in 1992-93, and the two-class average, which includes those who entered as freshmen in 1991-92. The same rates are provided for women. The totals for 1992-93 are the rates for men and women combined, and the two-class average is for all students who entered in 1991-92 and 1992-93.

   b. Student-athletes. This section provides the freshman-cohort persistence rates for student-athletes in each race and ethnic group who received athletics aid. Information is provided for men and women separately and for all student-athletes. For institutions that do not award athletics aid, student-athlete data are not applicable and, therefore, no numbers or percentages are reported.

   c. Student-Athletes by Sports Category. This section provides the identified persistence-rates as in 1-b for each of the eight sports categories. (The small letters indicate the value of N.) For those institutions that award athletics aid in only one sport, only those data are reflected.

2. Undergraduate-Enrollment Data. (Full-time undergraduate students who enrolled in the fall of 1997-98.)

   a. All Students. This section indicates the number of full-time undergraduate students enrolled for the 1997 fall term and the number of men and women in each racial or ethnic group.

   b. Student-Athletes. This section identifies how many student-athletes were enrolled for the 1997 fall term and the number of men and women in each racial or ethnic group. For institutions that do not award athletics aid, student-athlete data are not applicable and, therefore, no numbers or percentages are reported.

c. Student-Athletes by Sports Category. This section provides the enrollment data as identified in 2-b for each of the eight sports categories. For those institutions that award athletics aid in only one sport, only those data are reflected.
